D 101.2:

The United States Army Military District of Washington (MDW)

MDW is a unique Army command that, while covering a small geographic area for a major Army command, is responsible for a wide variety of important functions.

The MDW Commander, Major General Donald C. Hilbert, has jurisdiction over Fort McNair, in Washington, D.C., and Fort Myer, Fort Belvoir, Cameron Station, and Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia.

MDW is the home of the Army's official ceremonial unit, the 3d U.S. Infantry (The Old Guard), and The U.S. Army Band (Pershing's Own). These two units represent the Army and the nation thousands of times each year.

Both of these units are familiar sights to D.C. residents and visitors alike. They participate in ceremonies, including simple wreath ceremonies at the Tomb of the Unknowns, state funerals, and official arrival ceremonies for visiting chiefs of state and other dignitaries. In addition to performing "Spirit of America," the Old Guard and The Army Band produce "Twilight Tattoo" at the Ellipse during the summer. The Army Band also performs concerts at the U.S. Capitol and the Washington Monument during the summer, as well as dozens of other special concerts throughout the year.

The command has three primary missions: defending the Nation's Capital and providing security to the President of the United States, his family, and the White House Staff; coordinating Armed Forces participation in official ceremonies; and providing personnel, logistics, procurement, engineering, and finance and accounting support for thousands of soldiers and Department of Defense civilians in the area.

MDW also includes the U.S. Army Davison Aviation Command, which provides aviation support to the National Capital Region, and the Joint Personal Property Shipping Office, Washington Area, which handles all personal property shipments into and out of the area for all military and federal civilian employees authorized to move at government expense.

The command also actively involves itself with local communities by providing tutorial and other services to four schools in the Washington area under the Adopt-A-School Program, and by participating in numerous other community projects and events, such as the annual Cherry Blossom Parade, George Washington Birthday Parade, and Riverfest.

MDW is very much a part of the Washington community and is proud to be of service to the citizens of the city and the nation.

TWILIGHT TATTOO

"Twilight Tattoo" fills the mind with images of the precision and discipline of the U.S. Army. Intricate drills with bayonet-tipped rifles and the premier ceremonial troops of today's Army marching en masse are highlights of this exciting production.

Three hundred Old Guardsmen and seventy musicians of the The U.S. Army Band perform in the summertime tribute to the vitality of this nation, and to the sacrifices of the men and women who forged America into the land of the free and the brave.

It is for both our forefathers and our fellow Americans that MDW proudly presents "Twilight Tattoo," especially this year, the bicentennial of the first inauguration.
